Built Heritage Scheme

The Council has been allocated €60,000 by Department of Culture, Heritage and the Gaeltacht through the Built Heritage Investment Scheme (BHIS).

The purpose of this programme is to provide financial support to help protect, enhance or restore buildings in Architectural Conservation Areas or for Protected Structures. In addition, the fund also seeks to increase employment in traditional building methods and in 2019 this programme generated over 100 days of work.

The fund was open to residents, business, groups or organisations to apply to. The application deadline was the 31 January 2020. SDCC has now reviewed the submitted applications and has identified six projects that should receive funding. These recommendations have now been made to the Department and decisions are due in April.

N81 Road Resurfacing

The Council is progressing works to improve the road surface along the N81 and has now appointed Roadstone Ltd as the contractor to progress the next phase of the upgrade. This phase of works will commence north of Brittas in the townland of Glenaraneen and will extend northward to the townland of Gibbons. Works will start on site in early April.

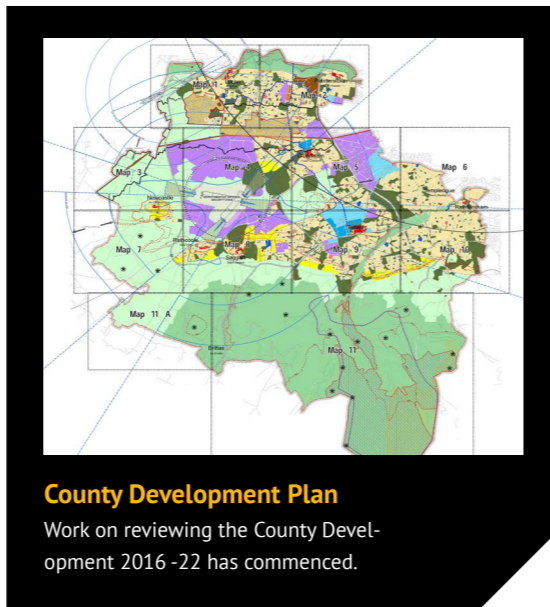

South Dublin's County Development Plan

Work on reviewing the Council's County Development Plan (2022 – 2028) has commenced.

The County Development Plan will set out a vision and an overall strategy for the proper planning and sustainable development of the County for a six-year period. It will also set out guiding policies and objectives for the development of the County in terms of physical growth and renewal, economic, social and cultural activity, and environmental protection and enhancement. The County Development Plan must take account of various national and regional strategies and guidelines.

There is a large amount of work involved in the preparation of the plan, and the whole programme will take nearly two and a half years to complete. The first big milestone is to brief the Land Use Planning and Transport Strategic Policy Committee in May 2020 and to then commence our first round of public consultation on the Issues Papers in June 2020. The issues papers will cover a broad range of issues including housing, environment and climate, employment, and transport.

The County Development Plan is a hugely important plan for the County and will help to guide where and how development will take place from 2022 to 2028. The new plan will ultimately be decided on by the full Council.

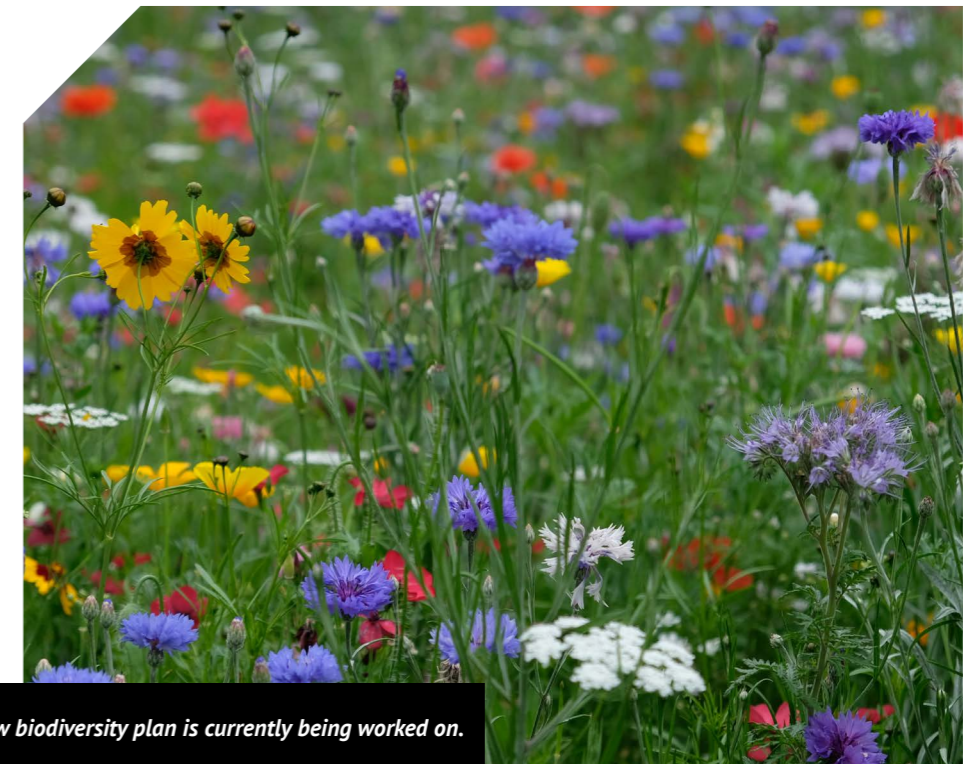

County Development Plan

Work on reviewing the County Development 2016 -22 has commenced.

Biodiversity Action Plan

Council staff are currently compiling a new biodiversity action plan for South Dublin.

The purpose of the plan is to be a central focus for the coordinated protection and management of the County's biodiversity resource and for the plan to become a one-stop-shop for biodiversity. Following a briefing held in February to the Land Use Planning and Transportation Strategic Policy Committee, the intention is to hold a public consultation before Council takes a final decision on the plan in the Autumn.

A new biodiversity plan is currently being worked on.

HOUSING SOCIAL AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

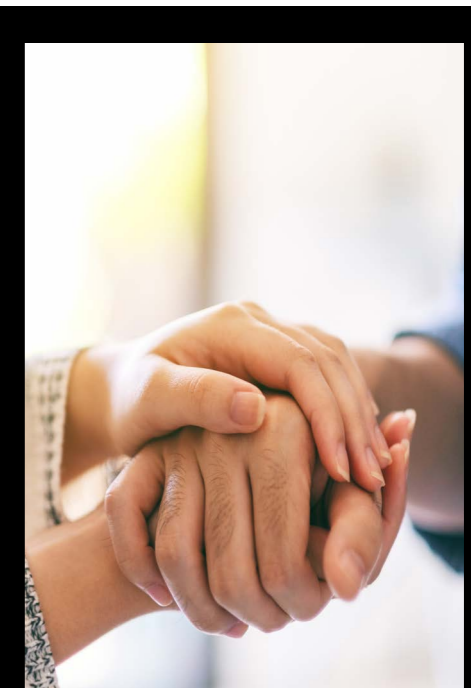

New homes at Gandon Green

Saggart Community Centre

South Dublin County Council purchased the old St Mary's National School Building from the Saggart Parish in August 2019 to provide a multi-purpose community centre for the residents of Saggart Village and surrounding areas. Since then a voluntary board of management, supported by the Council's Community Development team, has been established and proposals for the refurbishment and extension of the facility have been developed.

The Council have made provision in our Three-Year Capital programme 2020-2022 to fund works to the new facility and additional funding applications have been made through the LEADER programme and to the Historic Structures Fund from the Department of Culture, Heritage and the Gaeltacht.

Plans are currently available on the Council's Consultation Portal. Subject to planning and funding approvals, it is anticipated that the construction works on this project will start in Autumn 2020.

Sustaining Tenancies

The Council's Housing Welfare Team's tenancy sustainment and support services continue to seek to tackle and minimise the risks for those tenants struggling to maintain their tenancies. The Housing Welfare Team specialises in providing such tenants with the supports and interventions needed to manage their home more successfully. The team received approximately 130 referrals in 2019

LCDC Presents Annual Report to Council

The South Dublin Local Community Development Committee (LCDC) has presented to the March meeting of the Council by committee Chairperson Prof. Mary Corcoran.

This report highlights the ongoing work of the LCDC during the year along with details of the committee membership and the range of funding administered by the Committee during the year. The LCDC is responsible for overseeing and bringing a more joined-up and efficient approach to local and community development funding programmes. It promotes better community engagement in such programmes as well as enhancing the links between services delivery and policy development.

A key function of the LCDC is to progress the community elements of South Dublin 6-year Local Economic and Community Plan (LECP) which promotes local and community development in the County.

The LCDC is responsible for oversight of the Social Inclusion and Community Activation Programme (SICAP). SICAP, with an annual budget of some €2.1 million, provides funding to tackle poverty and social exclusion in the County and an end-of-year review showed that 101 community groups and 1,483 individuals were assisted in 2019, both in excess of prescribed targets. The LCDC also oversees the Dublin Rural LEADER programme that awards LEADER funding to projects.

Inaugural Housing Forum

South Dublin County Council, Fingal and Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown, have come together with Approved Housing Bodies at the inaugural meeting of a Regional Forum to discuss continued partnership opportunities and enhance the delivery of housing.

€300k Have Your Say

At February's Council meeting, Mayor Vicki Casserly randomly selected the Tallaght Central local electoral area to be the next setting for the Council's landmark participatory budgeting initiative, €300k Have Your Say.

€300K Have Your Say is a local democratic process, which facilitates citizens in a local community to directly decide how to spend a portion of the public budget in their area. It gives people the direct power to determine how to spend up to €300,000 to improve their community by asking them to suggest projects and then vote on which ones they would like to see funded through a public ballot.

In 2017, South Dublin County Council

became the first local authority in the state to adopt participatory budgeting through its pilot programme in the Lucan Electoral Area. This was followed up with the 2018 version in the Clondalkin Electoral Area and the 2019 Firhouse Bohernabreena Electoral Area, €300k Have Your Say was also shortlisted at the Europe wide 'Innovation in Politics' award ceremony in Vienna, Austria in 2018.

€300k Have Your Say has empowered citizens to make real decisions about their money. It is a fully transparent process, with elected members sitting on the participatory budgeting steering group and interacting with the Council throughout each step of the process.

€300k Have Your Say
Tallaght Central has been selected for the 2020 version of the initiative.

Sports Pitch Strategy for the County

The Sports Pitch Strategy was recently agreed by elected members of the Council to provide an analysis of the demand for playing pitches (grass and artificial) in the county. The strategy plans for future need and makes recommendations regarding pitch demand, capacity and any further requirements. The assessment focused on pitches used for the following sports: Soccer, GAA, Rugby Union, Hockey, Cricket, Athletics. This strategy will assist the Council to assess need and plan for the provision of pitches in the County.

The Sports Pitch Strategy, available on sdcc.ie, showed population growth predicted in all areas across the County. This would lead to an increase in team generation and so the strategy recommends that sports facility provision grow and adapt to meet current and future demand, and likewise for the management of facilities.

Recommendations within the strategy include the implementation of the following:

- Review of the allocation policy
- Provision of new pitches
- Improvements to the quality of existing pitches by enhancing the maintenance regime and implementation of capital improvement works.
- Provision of artificial grass pitches at strategic locations across the county.

The Council will consult with all clubs in the next few months.

The South Dublin County Heritage Trail App was launched by the Mayor of South Dublin County Council, Cllr Vicki Casserly at an event in the Round Tower Visitor Centre – Brú Chrónáin, Clondalkin on Tuesday 18 February.

The app is fully interactive, user-friendly and highlights the history and heritage of Clondalkin village whilst drawing attention to the Round Tower Visitor Centre as a focal point of the trail. The mobile tourism app can greatly expand on the capabilities of a phone, using GPS to guide the user and camera and audio features to make the experience much more immersive, engaging and real through bringing historical sites to life.

The idea for the heritage app came out of the €300k Have Your Say Participatory Budgeting consultative

The app includes 16 individual heritage points of interest in and around Clondalkin village using images, text and audio for each point and is available in Irish, English, French and German. It is wi-fi activated and uses Android or Apple maps to direct users to nearby places of interest. Each site will have its own uniquely identifiable sign that will display a QR code to allow anyone to download the app.

BREATHELIFE CAMPAIGN

The Mayor of South Dublin County Council along with the Mayors/Cathaoirligh of the other Dublin local authorities signed up to the World Health Organisation BreatheLife campaign calling on all Dubliners to be 'Climate Brave'.

According to the World Health Organisation (WHO), 92% of people around the world breathe air quality which falls short of the recommended guidelines. There are 7 million deaths around the world every year from air pollution.

By signing up to the campaign, Dublin will be joining 76 Cities, Regions, and Countries around the globe in demonstrating a commitment to bring air quality to safe levels by 2030 and collaborate on the clean air solutions that will help us get there faster. Speakers at the event included Dr Maria Neira from the World Health Organisation, Anne Graham from the National Transport Authority, 17-year-old Climate Activist Beth Doherty, and Donna Gartland from Codema.

The Mayor of South Dublin County, Cllr Vicki Casserly said:

BreatheLife 2030

BreatheLife is a global campaign to improve air quality. BreatheLife combines public health and climate change expertise with guidance on implementing solutions to air pollution in support of global development goals. Partner groups include the World Health Organisation, the World Bank, the UN Environment Programme and the Climate and Clean Air Coalition. It has so far impacted on 295 million citizens worldwide.

You can find out more at <https://breathelife2030.org/>

“By signing this commitment, Dublin is joining with cities and regions around the world in saying we want to be ‘Climate Brave’ and we want to set an example for others to follow. South Dublin County Council and the three other Dublin local authorities are working to meet the challenges of climate change through our climate action plans and this is an important next step. Dublin is the first city in Ireland to sign up to the BreatheLife campaign, but I am sure that we won’t be the last”

Immediately following the signing, the 4 signatories of the pledge took part in a landmark event at the Mansion House to identify how the combined resources engaged in climate change action, air quality management, and health protection can be harnessed to bring about meaningful improvement in the quality of life for all the citizens of Dublin. An invited audience of national and regional policymakers, officials, researchers and stakeholders attended the event.

The signing of the BreatheLife Campaign.

This month we take a look at the work South Dublin County Council Arts Office carries out through the Creative Ireland programme and through a framework agreement with the Arts Council.

The South Dublin County Council Arts Office facilitates creativity and supports the development of people and communities through various programmes, events, grants and awards. One such avenue is through the work it carries out with Creative Ireland.

Creative Ireland is a five-year culture-based programme that promotes individual, community and national wellbeing. It emerged as a legacy of the 1916 Commemorations programme and is based on an understanding that participation in cultural activity drives creativity and benefits individual and societal wellbeing.

The Council has the key role of Enabling Creativity in Every Community, in the county, through locally shaped programmes. Work over the last three years has resulted in bespoke and innovative projects and events that have captured the imagination.

Projects generated under the programme, such as Open Minds provided mainstream cultural space for the artwork of Irish prisoners and brought people to Rua Red arts centre.

Creative young people have a distinctive voice in the County which has been captured and nurtured over the course of this programme but particularly in Cruinniú na nÓg, a national day of children's creativity in June. In 2020, we hope to increase the participation of 0-12year olds through family events and also support young people creating for other young people.

Framework Agreement with the Arts Council

The Framework Agreement 2018 – 2025 is an agreement reached with the Arts Council whose purpose is to highlight the shared strategic priorities for arts development in South Dublin County over the period of the agreement; setting out a vision and goals for what we can achieve together.

It has been developed through a collaborative process between both organisations, under the overarching national agreement, A Framework for Collaboration (2016 – 2025) between the Arts Council and the County and City Management Association. The agreement has strengthened the working relationship between the Arts Council and South Dublin County Council and will build towards increasing the levels of public engagement in the arts throughout the county.

Shared Strategic Actions include:

- Supporting Artists
- Cultural Diversity
- Young people and children

Since the signing of the agreement, the Arts Office has introduced a number of new opportunities for emerging and established artists through mentoring and training and a number of targeted bursaries. In 2020, the Arts Office will put in place resources to encourage Cultural Diversity within the Arts in the County and will bring forward a proposed policy and strategy for the development Children's Arts (0-12years) in the County and review its current Youth Arts Strategy.
