MAYOR'S WELCOME

CLLR. EMMA MURPHY

I am delighted to welcome you to the Red Line Festival brought to you by South Dublin Libraries and Arts. Now in its 11th year the festival is a celebration of all things literary; be it spoken, written, sung, played, illustrated, or even just thought!

The Red Line Festival is once again packed with wonderful authors such as Louise O'Neill, Michael Harding, Donal Ryan and Emilie Pine to name but a few. We look forward to meeting crime writer Paul Williams, private investigator Pat Marry and former state pathologist Marie Cassidy in what is sure to be an intriguing insight into true crime.

Our poetry programme will take the limelight once more on the Thursday night with award winning poet Jessica Traynor announcing the winners of the 10th Red Line Poetry Competition. We are excited to introduce our Writer in Residence programme. Clondalkin rapper Sello has been making waves in the Irish rap scene for his combination of traditional Irish and folk music samples with his impelling rap music. 10 lucky participants will be attending workshops with Sello and producing their own original music.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank our partners and venues for their commitment to the festival in particular the Local Enterprise Office South Dublin, Office of Public Works, The Civic and Tallaght Stadium. I would also like to acknowledge the incredible work that goes into producing the festival and in particular the work of the team in South Dublin Libraries and Arts.

FESTIVAL 2022

CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S MESSAGE

DANIEL MC CLOUGHLIN

The Red Line Festival provides South Dublin Libraries and Arts the opportunity to showcase the best of what South Dublin County has to offer. With over 40 events in fantastic venues including Rathfarnham Castle, Pearse Museum, Baldonnel Aerodrome and Tallaght Stadium, this year's festival truly highlights the cultural and historical offerings of South Dublin.

For the first time the festival includes an exciting Sports Strand in Tallaght Stadium. The line-up includes Jonathan Wilson discussing his biography of Bobby and Jack Charlton, best-selling children's author Ger Siggins on his Rugby Spirit series and FAI Communications Manager Gareth Maher in conversation with football commentator George Hamilton on Thirty Years of Irish Footballers in the Premier League. For those who are more interested in Michael Cusack's blackthorn stick or Brian Cody's baseball cap, you can join author Siobhán Doyle on The History of GAA in 100 objects.

South Dublin Libraries and Arts are delighted to work with NOISE Music DJ Programme and Give Us The Night in providing opportunities in this year's festival for young people to learn how to DJ and develop their musical knowledge, it will showcase the library as both a cultural and creative space that can be used in a way that was unimagined before.

As always, history, heritage and the Irish language feature heavily throughout the festival. Dean Ruxton discusses his book Death on Ireland's Eye: The Victorian Murder Trial That Scandalised a Nation, Rebecca Brownlie brings her Abandoned Ireland exhibition to the County Library, highlighting the social importance of our forgotten buildings and bringing their stories back to life through the medium of photography. We are honoured to have Gaeilgeoirs Colmán Ó Raghallaigh, Dr. Kelly Fitzgerald, Micheál Ó Conghaile and Réaltán Ní Leannáin representing the importance of Irish language events.

With such a varied and diverse programme there is truly something for all in the Red Line Festival and I invite everyone, from South Dublin County and beyond to participate.

REDLINE FESTIVAL 2022

INTRO TO 2022 PROGRAMME

The Red Line Festival is a celebration of all things literary; be it spoken, written, sung, played, illustrated, or even just thought!

We are really looking forward to welcoming you all back to South Dublin County for another Red Line Festival. 2022 provides a programme of events and workshops aimed at attracting people of all ages and interests.

The festival seeks to enhance the experience of culturally curious audiences visiting Dublin, offering them an exciting cultural environment in a suburban area of Dublin not normally associated with literary festivals. This year we are expanding the festival beyond the book to include other cultural streams (sport, music, theatre etc). The Red Line Festival features events in quality performance venues such as The Civic, historical buildings including Rathfarnham Castle and Pearse Museum at St. Enda's Park, along with our fantastic branch libraries across South Dublin County.

This is our 11th year and we are delighted to bring you the best in Irish and International talent. This programme is a year in the making and has been put together with you, our audience, clearly in mind. This year our theme is Inspirations, whether that is to inspire you to write for wellbeing with E.R. Murray, be inspired by Michael Harding or to discover what inspires author Donal Ryan.

We have divided the festival into 6 different strands (Literary, Sport & Wellbeing, Music & Performance, Crime & Horror, Family and As Gaeilge) to make it easier for you to find and choose from our many fantastic events.

WRITER IN RESIDENCE

SELLÓ

The Red Line Festival Writer-in-Residence for 2022 is Dublin rapper Selló. Championing a new voice for the nation of Ireland in the form of “Gaelic Drill”, a fusion of traditional Irish culture with the modern drill/ hip hop sound. Selló has pioneered a new era of music that is heavily focused on reviving classic samples and giving them a new lease of life.

As part of his residency, Selló will lead a four-week course- free and open to rappers aged between 16 and 25. He will be working in partnership with NOISE Music to help develop the skills of a new generation of Irish rappers and performers. This course will end with Writer in Residence: Sello & Guests, an opportunity to see these emerging artists perform alongside some of Ireland's most highly regarded Hip Hop artists on Friday 14th October at The Civic in Tallaght.

Selló will be working alongside artists Julia Louise Knifestist and Talkgick to make this a must for all aspiring rap artists.

For details on how to apply for the course and on Writer in Residence: Selló & Guests please see website.

A WARNING TO THE CURIOUS

Two Ghost Stories by M.R. James

Date: Thursday 13th October
Time: 8pm
Venue: The Civic Main Space
Admission: €8 /€5
Strand: Music & Performance

Nunkie Theatre Company presents
A Warning to the Curious – Two Ghost
Stories by M R James

Performed by Robert Lloyd Parry

“Sometimes, you know, you see him, and sometimes you don’t. It’s just as he pleases. I think: he’s there, but he has some power over your eyes...”

M R James first wrote his ghost stories to perform to friends in Kings College Cambridge in the year leading up to World War One. Now, over a century after their first publication, Nunkie Theatre Company have brought two of the eeriest and most entertaining back to life in this gripping, candlelit one-man show.

Performer Robert Lloyd Parry has been touring several shows based on the works of M. R. James around the UK since 2007, and he appeared as the author in Mark Gatiss’s acclaimed BBC
Documentary: “M R James: Ghost Writer.”

Over the last thirty years, the English Premier League has grown to become the richest and most popular league in football – and the Irish have been at the heart of its success since the very beginning.

Author Gareth Maher showcases the astounding contribution that the Republic of Ireland has made to the greatest league on earth. Gareth will share his experiences with broadcaster, author, and football commentator George Hamilton.

Gareth Maher is a former award-winning journalist who is now Communications Manager with the Football Association of Ireland.

George Hamilton has been working in journalism since the seventies and is best known as the chief football commentator for RTÉ.

TRUE CRIME

Paul Williams, Marie Cassidy and Patrick Marry in Conversation

Date: Saturday 15th October
Time: 8pm
Venue: The Civic Main Space
Admission: €8 /€5
Strand: Crime & Horror

True Crime has never been more popular. Join true crime superstar Paul Williams, Ex-State Pathologist Marie Cassidy and Private Investigator Patrick Marry as they discuss crime, careers and writing.

Marie Cassidy was the State Pathologist until 2018. Her memoir, Beyond The Tape, a number one bestseller, was published in October 2020 and has been nominated for an Irish Book Award.

Paul Williams is a multi-award winning crime journalist, bestselling true crime author and broadcaster. He is the author of twelve best-selling books focusing on organized crime including biographies of some of the country's most notorious crime lords.

Patrick Marry is a retired Detective Inspector with 33 years' service in An Garda Síochána. Pat enjoyed a varied and interesting career, and he worked on many of the country's most high profile murder investigations. In 2019, his book, The Making of a Detective was published. He has gone on to make True Crime documentaries and is now a licensed Private Investigator.

LOUISE O'NEILL AND MELANIE MURPHY

in Conversation with Louise Cooney

Date: Saturday 15th October
Time: 12pm
Venue: The Civic Main Space
Admission: Free, booking essential Strand: Literary

Join bestselling authors Louise O'Neill and Melanie Murphy as they chat to award winning blogger Louise Cooney about their books, careers and inspirations.

Louise O'Neill grew up in Clonakilty, a small town in West Cork, Ireland. Her first novel, Only Ever Yours won the Sunday Independent Newcomer of the Year at the Irish Book Awards, the Eilís Dillon Award for a First Book and the Bookseller's inaugural YA Book Prize. Idol is her third adult novel.

Melanie Murphy is a bestselling Irish author and award-winning online content creator. Her second novel Glass Houses, written during (and influenced by!) the Covid pandemic, is inspired by a real life story of a doctor who ran a unique program to help his patients with their mental health.

After years of documenting her New York life, digital creator Louise Cooney made the move back to Ireland and brought with her a follower base of over 200,000. While back in her childhood bedroom during lockdown, Louise started an online book club over Zoom for her followers.

THE THINGS LEFT UNSAID

with Michael Harding

Date: Sunday 16th October
Time: 5pm
Venue: The Civic Main Space
Admission: €8 / €5
Strand: Sport & Wellbeing

Join Michael Harding as he talks about the power of connection and the importance of saying the things you need to say, before it's too late. Recovering from surgery, Michael travelled to the coast of Donegal to heal in solitude, with the comfort of the ocean around him. As he recuperated, he set himself the task of writing letters to people who had a profound effect on him through his life: old loves, mentors, friends.

The result is a collection of insights into life, death, friendship and love. These letters, expressing an intimacy not previously risked, were never posted. All the Things Left Unsaid is the startlingly honest and moving witness to the power of connection and the importance of saying the things you need to say, before it's too late.

Michael Harding is an author and playwright. His creative chronicle of ordinary life in the Irish midlands is published as a weekly column in The Irish Times.

THE MISSING CRYPTOQUEEN

with Jamie Bartlett

Date: Sunday 16th October
Time: 7pm
Venue: The Civic Main Space
Admission: €8 / €5
Strand: Crime & Horror

In 2014 a brilliant Oxford graduate, Dr Ruja Ignatova, promised to revolutionise money and make people rich in the process. The future, she said, belonged to cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin. The self-styled cryptoqueen vowed that she had invented the Bitcoin Killer, launched OneCoin, and by 2017, billions of dollars had been invested in hundreds of countries. But by the end of the year she had disappeared, along with the money, and it slowly became clear that her revolutionary cryptocurrency was not all it seemed. The Missing Cryptoqueen tells the unbelievable story of the rise, disappearance and fall of Dr Ruja Ignatova. It is a modern tale of intrigue, techno-hype and herd madness that reveals how OneCoin became the biggest scam of the 21st Century.

Jamie Bartlett is an author and presenter whose interest is the relationship between technology, politics and society and he aims to make writing on tech accessible to the general public.
