

South Dublin COVID-19 Community Response Forum

Community Call to Map Existing Voluntary Supports

A South Dublin COVID-19 Community Response Forum has been established to identify and respond to the needs of vulnerable people living in the community, where their usual sources of support have become unavailable, in accessing non-emergency and non-medical supports and advice during the current public health emergency.

The Forum has set up a dedicated Community Call Helpdesk that can be contacted by calling 1800 240519 (freephone) or by emailing covidsupport@sdblincoco.ie.

To help this response, existing community, voluntary, sporting and other organisations in the County are asked to provide details of the resources and supports that they can offer to the Forum. This includes details of key contact points, an overview of available volunteer members including details of Garda or other vetting, the possible services that the organisation could provide and their geographical area of operation.

Please submit your group's details here: <https://arcg.is/1OT99H>

This will provide the Forum with an overview of possible resources that we may call upon to assist and support the most vulnerable people in South Dublin County. We will only engage community volunteers to meet the emerging demand for non-emergency and non-medical supports during current public health emergency.

Any information received will only be used to coordinate community volunteers to provide supports during the current public health emergency.
