Appendix 3A

Record of Protected Structures

The Protected Structures listed below relate to structures within the County that are considered to be of special architectural, historic, archaeological, artistic, cultural, scientific, social, or technical interest.

In general, the descriptions used in the list refer to the original use of each of the structures. The current use is normally indicated where considered relevant to the listing. Where house names have changed, the former name may be detailed instead of the current name.

The Development Plan maps should be read in conjunction with this appendix. Where a building or structure is mapped but not listed, it shall be deemed to be listed.

Each Protected Structure is denoted on the Development Plan maps by means of a pentagon symbol together with the relevant reference number. The top point of each pentagon symbol broadly indicates the location of the structure. Due to the scale of the Development Plan maps, and to ensure the zoning maps are legible, a symbol may represent multiple protected structures and in addition, the position of each symbol in relation to the corresponding Protected Structure may not be exact.

Recorded Monuments (denoted RM) that are also designated as Protected Structures are indicated under the RPS below.
